Baron Hirsch's agent, has but just gone out to prepare the way before these coming multitudes. Rumania was long since told that immediate help toward that emigration she fomented was impossible, and some sort of an understanding was arrived at, or was supposed to be. I take it that nowhere is it so difficult to come to a complete understanding or agreement on any question whatever as in Rumania and with Russian officials. It is as difficult to deal with M. Pobledonostoff as it is to pronounce his name. He is, in this matter as in so many others, the real authority.

Last night's debate on Mr. Fenwick's resolution for payment of Members was perhaps less important than the eight hours discussion, but seemed to be more interesting to Members. Mr. Fenwick, like Mr. Burt, is a workman's representative, and has been a working collier. He speaks for a great body of artisans who think the doors of the House of Commons ought to be open to them, and know that under the present system they are closed. Parliament, so long as Members are unpaid, must be a rich man's Parliament. It is as difficult for a poor man to Paris thought the gem of the fiction where it was hung in 1889—I am sorry to say the English authorities have been so stupid as to take the fiction, the American authorities having been wiser. Here the Gold Screen and the Music Room, either of which would make the painter famous. Here above all is the Carfax, the only pressure, has relinquished its hold: from which this generation may see what the great writer really was in body and spirit. Education, the great work will do as much as Mr. Whistler's work will do as much as any single influence at a given time could do to teach the respectable English public that there is something in the world that is something else, to which herefore the respectable middle-class public has been for the most part unamenable.

TESTAMENT OF A WILL PERMITTED.
New-Bedford, March 26 (Special).—Judge Allen, of the Supreme Court in Boston, has decided in favor of the petitioners in the contested will of Charles T. Borden, druggist, of Mansfield. The petitioners—Mrs. Annie McCullough and Miss Bertha Briggs, of this city, and Mrs. Ellen Coffin, of New-Bedford, a niece of the deceased—had brought an appeal from the decision of the Probate Court, allowing the will probated, as they allege that the will was probated and the estate distributed without their knowledge or consent, they being nearest of kin to Borden. The petitioners further alleged that the testator was unduly influenced by Rev. E. W. Goodier and members of the Methodist Church at Mansfield. The will gave $5,000 each to

NOT GUILTY OF SMUGGLING CHINESE.
Utica, N. Y., March 24.—In the United States District Court the case of Richard T. Connell, of Cape Vincent, charged with bringing Chinese into this country, charged with giving to the jury at 5:30 p. m. yesterday. At the opening of court today a sealed verdict of not guilty was returned.

MOVING THE STRANDED WINDERMERE.
Astary Park, N. J., March 25 (special).—The stranded shipper ship Windermere, which lay motionless nearly thirty feet in from the beach today by the tug of the Merritt Breasting Company, she will probably be floated Tuesday or Wednesday.

...smoothly on the Republican side, that there are neither divisions nor factions, and that the cause headed by Mr. Brown would have a plurality and possibly a majority. I also found Mr. Brown to be in a most cheerful mood, and inclined to regard the battle as being well in hand. The prospect for Republican success has improved rapidly during the week now closing. Another sign of active campaigning, during which Governor McKinley, ex-Speaker Reed, Secretary Tracy, Sen. McKim, and others will be seen, is the fact that the Republican cause has a host of volunteers to help. Plans will fire the Republicans with enthusiasm. Arrangements for mass-meetings in every town and ward of the State have been made by
